

Swapan Banerjee

Department: M.Com

Qualification: M.Sc.

Designation: Dean of B.Com. (Morning)

Profile:

One of the key pillars of the M.Com. Department, Prof. Swapan Banerjee teaches 'Statistical Analysis' to the students of M.Com. department of the College. He is also the Dean of B.Com. (Morning) since 2006.

He obtained his B.Sc.(Hons.) in Statistics from Presidency College under Calcutta University. He completed his M.Sc. with specialization in 'Multivariate Analysis' from the same university. He has also done a course in 'Computer Applications' from RCC, Jadavpur University.

Prof. Banerjee joined St. Xavier's College as a lecturer in 'Mathematics and Statistics' in the undergraduate department of commerce (morning) in 1979. In 2006 with the advent of autonomy, he took charge as the Dean of the department. He is also guest faculty in the Department of Business Administration of St. Xavier's College, Indira Gandhi Open University (IGNOU), St. Xavier's College Centre and the State Labour Institute, West Bengal.

He has authored a study module for the Master of Commerce (M.Com.) course of IGNOU on the topic of 'Testing of Hypothesis' and has been on its syllabus committee. He has also authored a study module on Statistics for the CPT course of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI). Besides he has written a text book on 'Statistics' for Higher secondary level students, published by 'Scholar'.

His research interests lie in the area of 'Statistical Analysis of Indian Demography'.

Prof. Banerjee has diverse interests and has written a travelogue under the pseudonym "sri Anandam" which has recently been published.